

NYACK COMMUNITY GARDEN NEWSLETTER May 2016

Tips for New Gardeners

The deadline for planting our plots is rapidly approaching: May 30 so here are a few tidbits:

Places to get seeds/plants

In person:

Nyack Library Seed Exchange

Saturdays 10-2

Nyack Farmers Market

Thursdays 8-2

Van Houten Farms

68 Sickletown Rd, Orangeburg, NY

Orchards of Concklin

2 S Mountain Rd, Pomona, NY
(also at Farmers Market)

Auntie El's Farm Market and Bakery

171 Route 17 South, Sloatsburg, NY
(More of a drive, but a fun store and you get to see their giant dogs)

Or by mail:

Johnny Seeds

Seed Savers Exchange

See also:

Nyack Community Garden Blog

Easy plants (for beginners and for anyone who still feels like a beginner):

- Easiest vegetables to grow in your garden (About.com Gardening)
- Spring gardening for beginners (Time Magazine)
- 10 best garden crops for beginners (Mother Earth News)
- What should I plant in my first garden? (Frugal Upstate)
- Gardening growing guides (Cornell University)

Photo Credit: Nyack Daily Snapshot

Email from Jamie (Plot 1A)

Rockland Farm Alliance

220 S. Little Tor Rd, New City

Rockland Farm Alliance sells plants at the Farmer's Market and at the farm which used to be Cropsey Farm. The farm manager, Jose Bosch, is open to doing workshops or other types of events with the garden. He is a great resource of information about soil, farming, etc.

The farm is biodynamic and there are CSA shares.

Contact: Jose@rocklandfarm.org

What to plant and when

Nyack Community Garden Executive Committee
 John Dunnigan, Co-president | Lynda Grant, Co-president/Secretary
 Marie Dilluvio, Treasurer
 Robin Brown | Laura Pakaln

Email: nyackcommunitygarden@gmail.com Website: <http://nyackcommunitygarden.info>

Newsletter & Bulletin Board Committee
 Judy Gitlin, Chair
 Kewannah Van Dunk | Stefano Sordini | Beth Harris